Residents’ Rights and the LGBTQ+ Community: Know YOUR Rights as a Nursing Home Resident

The federal 1987 Nursing Home Reform Law requires nursing homes to “protect and promote the rights of each resident” emphasizing individual dignity and self-determination in the provision of long-term care. Every nursing home accepting Medicare and/or Medicaid must meet federal requirements, including those regarding residents’ rights.

LESMIN, GAY, BISEXUAL, TRANSGENDER, OR QUEER (LGBTQ+) OLDER ADULTS AND LONG-TERM CARE

Current estimates state that 10.1 million Americans identify as lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, or queer (LGBTQ+), with 3.8% aged 52 and older individuals identifying as LGBTQ+. One study found that 27% of LGBTQ+ baby boomers had significant concerns about discrimination as they age and there are reports that LGBTQ+ older adults encounter violations of their rights when seeking long-term care services and supports. Incidents of abuse are often unreported or unidentified; however, a majority of individuals responding to a survey (578 of the 649 respondents or 89%) felt that staff would discriminate against an LGBTQ+ elder who was out of the closet. Additionally, negative treatment, including verbal and physical harassment, by other residents was the most commonly reported problem by respondents in this study.

I lived in a very rural, conservative state as a lesbian for 25 years and then transitioned from female to male. LGBTQ+ elders in (state withheld by request) are forced to remain hidden, and when placed in long-term care facilities, become even more isolated. I have done training for long-term care staff and administrators in this state, but most feel that there are no LGBTQ+ residents in their facilities. KNOW YOUR RIGHTS

Individuals living in nursing homes have the same rights to be free from discrimination and harassment as individuals living in the larger community. In addition, they have rights and protections provided by federal nursing home regulations and state and federal anti-discrimination provisions. The rights of all residents should be honored and respected, regardless of sexual orientation or gender identity or expression. Understanding your rights, learning about ways to solve problems, and knowing how to get help if issues arise is the first step in ensuring quality care. The federal nursing home regulations provide the following resident rights and facility requirements that may be of particular importance to lesbian, gay, bisexual or transgender individuals living in a nursing home. State nursing home regulations and various anti-discrimination laws may provide additional protections (see “Resources” section for link to federal nursing home regulations):

Right to be FREE from ABUSE
All residents have the right to be free from abuse (by any individual including other residents) and facilities must develop and implement policies and procedures that prohibit mistreatment of residents and investigate and report allegations of abuse. Resident mistreatment includes all types of abuse; such as verbal, sexual, mental and physical abuse, neglect and financial exploitation. For example, facility staff cannot refuse to provide care due to a resident’s sexual orientation nor can staff harass a resident due to his/her gender identity.

Right to PRIVACY
Residents have the right to private and unrestricted communication with anyone they choose (e.g., during in-person visits and through letters, telephone and electronic communication) and privacy regarding their medical, personal and financial affairs. Residents also have the right to privacy regarding their bodies, and all care must be given in a manner that maximizes that privacy.

Right to Receive VISITORS
Residents have the right to receive visitors of their choosing at the time of their choosing. According to the federal regulations, facilities must inform residents of their visitation rights and related facility policies and procedures. Facilities must “inform each resident of the right, subject to his or her consent, to receive the visitors whom he or she designates, including, but not limited to, a spouse (including a same-sex spouse), a domestic partner (including a same-sex domestic partner), another family member, or a friend, and his or her right to withdraw or deny such consent at any time.” Additionally, facilities must “ensure that all visitors enjoy full and equal visitation privileges consistent with resident preferences” and cannot “restrict, limit, or otherwise deny visitation privileges on the basis of race, color, national origin, religion, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, or disability.”

Right to Participate in ACTIVITIES
Residents have the right to participate in (or choose not to participate in) social, religious, and community activities both inside and outside of the facility. For example, you have the right to participate in and promote an event, training or resource regarding LGBTQ+ equality (e.g., PRIDE parade, PFLAG support group meeting) without fear of discrimination or abuse.

Right to be treated with RESPECT
All residents have the right to be treated with dignity, respect and consideration and have the right to exercise their choice and self-determination. For example, all residents have the right to be addressed how they want to be addressed (e.g., using a resident’s preferred pronoun) and the right to clothing and grooming consistent with their gender identity.

Right to PARTICIPATE in YOUR CARE
Residents have the right to be informed about care and treatment, participate in their own assessment and care planning, and make decisions regarding their treatment, including health care choices related to gender transition. Residents also have the right to designate a legal surrogate (or, decision-maker) to act on their behalf. State laws, such as health care power of attorney and guardianship laws, govern how someone (including same-sex partners or spouses or other family of choice) can make decisions on your behalf. Per federal requirements, “if a resident’s representative is a same-sex spouse, he or she must be treated the same as an opposite-sex spouse with regard to exercising the resident’s rights.”

Right to be FULLY INFORMED
Facilities must inform residents of any changes in services; changes in care or treatment; what is covered by Medicare and Medicaid or other health care insurance; and provide a written notice prior to a change of room or roommate. The federal government states that Medicare Advantage enrollees are entitled to equal access to services in the same skilled nursing facility their spouse resides in, regardless of sexual orientation. Specifically stating that, “this guarantee of coverage applies equally to couples who are in a legally recognized same-sex marriage, regardless of where they live.”

Right to CHOOSE
Residents have the right to make their own choices, including what to wear, how to express themselves, and their daily routine. Residents also have the right to retain and use personal items (e.g., some furnishings, pictures). Additionally, “residents have the right to share a room with whomever they wish, as long as both residents are in agreement. These arrangements could include opposite-sex and same-sex married couples or domestic partners, siblings, or friends.”

9. 42 CFR 483.10 (f)(4)(vi)(B)
10. 42 CFR 483.10 (f)(4)(vi)(C)
Right to REMAIN in the HOME

A nursing home cannot transfer or discharge a resident unless one (or more) of the permissible reasons for transfer or discharge apply. Residents cannot be transferred or discharged due to their sexual orientation or gender identity. (See 42 CFR 483.15 for Admission, Transfer and Discharge rights, link to federal regulations in “Resources” section).

ADVOCATING FOR YOUR RIGHTS

You have the right to voice concerns with the staff without fear of reprisal and they must try to resolve grievances promptly. Nursing home staff are required to protect all residents from abuse and report and investigate allegations of abuse. Also, residents have the right to file a complaint regarding abuse, neglect, exploitation or non-compliance with the state licensing and certification agency. There are resources available to support you and agencies responsible for investigating complaints and allegations of abuse.

To locate resources in your state, including the agencies mentioned below, you can contact Eldercare Locator. Eldercare Locator is a national public service to help older adults and caregivers connect with local aging and disability services including the Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program, Adult Protective Services, and your state licensing and certification agency. You can reach the Eldercare Locator by calling 1-800-677-1116 or visiting https://eldercare.acl.gov.

You have several options in addressing your concerns and you can use these at any time depending on your comfort level with working with the facility staff or the type of concern and outcome you want:

- Share your concerns with the facility administrator, social worker or another staff person. Inquire about the facility policy for grievances and use it but know that you are not limited to their grievance policy. Document your conversations and keep a written record of your complaint. If necessary, ask for a care plan meeting to discuss your concerns.
- Contact your Long-Term Care Ombudsman (LTCO) Program. Ombudsmen are advocates for residents in long-term care facilities and are trained to resolve complaints with you and on your behalf. For additional information about the ombudsman program and to locate your LTCO program, visit www.ltcombudsman.org/ombudsman.
- Contact information for your ombudsman program should also be posted in your facility.
- Contact your state licensing and certification agency. Each state has an agency responsible for the licensing, certification and regulation of long-term care facilities and investigations of complaints. To locate your state licensing and certification agency visit www.ltcombudsman.org/ombudsman.
- Contact Adult Protective Services (APS). APS investigates reports of abuse, neglect, and exploitation of elders and, in many states, individuals with disabilities. Every state has APS services, but the services vary by state. To locate APS services in your area, visit http://www.napsa-now.org/get-help/help-in-your-area/.
- Abuse is a crime. If you are a victim of abuse in addition to contacting the investigating agencies contact your local law enforcement agency.
- Discrimination against LGBTQ+ nursing home residents is illegal. Contact the Lambda Legal Help Desk for information and lawyer referrals at 1-866-542-8336 or www.lambdalegal.org.
